Frame of reference

As an Information relay of the European Commission, we try to bring the European Union closer to the local population. The EU is based on multicultural cooperation and diversity and our conference incorporates just that. It is a way to bring together youth from different EU Member States, thus giving the participants a diverse playground of ideas and viewpoints.

This will be our third conference, following Meet me in Diversity in 2008 and Meet me in Creativity in 2009, dedicated to the theme of the European year. The 2010 conference will therefore be dedicated to the European Year for Combating Poverty and Social Exclusion.

Join forces to fight poverty and social exclusion

Almost 84 million Europeans live at risk of poverty, which means they face insecurity, and go without what most people often take for granted.

Living in poverty may result in a variety of problems, from not having enough money to spend on food and clothes to suffering poor housing conditions and even homelessness. Poverty also means having to cope with limited lifestyle choices that may lead to social exclusion.

The key objectives of the 2010 Year are to raise public awareness about these issues and renew the political commitment of the EU and its Member States to combat poverty and social exclusion. The guiding principle is to give voice to the concerns of people who have to live with poverty and social exclusion, and to inspire every European citizen and other stakeholders to engage with these important issues. And then, who can these voices be heard? Who better to raise awareness, to inform, to actively engage?

Journalists, who contribute to an increased awareness through their work and a broader understanding of poverty and social exclusion, are the answer.

The impact of Media

Media plays a crucial role in forming and reflecting public opinion, connecting the world to individuals and reproducing the self-image of society. Their strong social and cultural impact upon society is predicated upon their ability to reach a wide audience with a strong and influential message.

Media generates information from a network of relations and influences and with the individual interpretations and evaluations of the information provided. Journalists with incentive can relate not merely to the way news(worthy) events are perceived, but also to a multitude of cultural influences that operate through the media.

What will you learn?

- Facts about the 2010 Year
- Understanding social exclusion
- Media criticism
- Avoiding stereotypes in journalism
- Theory of Journalism Discourse

Participants

- Preferable young journalists (and other young enthusiasts who are interested in the topic),
- are from 18 to 27 years of age,
- are citizens from EU Member States and Candidate or Potential Candidate Countries.

Participants will be invited on the basis of motivation letters. We will invite about 30 participants.
